

STATE LIBRARY
VICTORIA

What's your story.

Collecting and Commemorating is a special issue on State Library Victoria's World War I collections. Focusing on the workings of the Library during the Great War, efforts to honour the memory of staff who made the supreme sacrifice, development of the Library's collections, including outstanding archives of war pamphlets and posters, and personal items, from letters and diaries to billies and badges, this issue gives a sense of the depth and diversity of the collections and of how they enhance our understanding of World War I.

In this issue, which complements the Victoria and the Great War special issue (no. 96), current and former State Library staff, Creative Fellows and volunteers share their knowledge of these remarkable collections.
