MIRROR: New views on photography Relaxed session

STATE LIBRARY
VICTORIA

Acknowledgement of Country and People

State Library Victoria acknowledges the traditional lands of all the Victorian Aboriginal clans, and their cultural practices and knowledge systems.

We recognise that our collections hold traditional cultural knowledge belonging to Indigenous communities in Victoria and around the country. We support communities to protect the integrity of this information, gathered from their Ancestors in the colonial period.

We pay our respects to their Elders, past and present, who have handed down these systems of practice to each new generation for millennia.

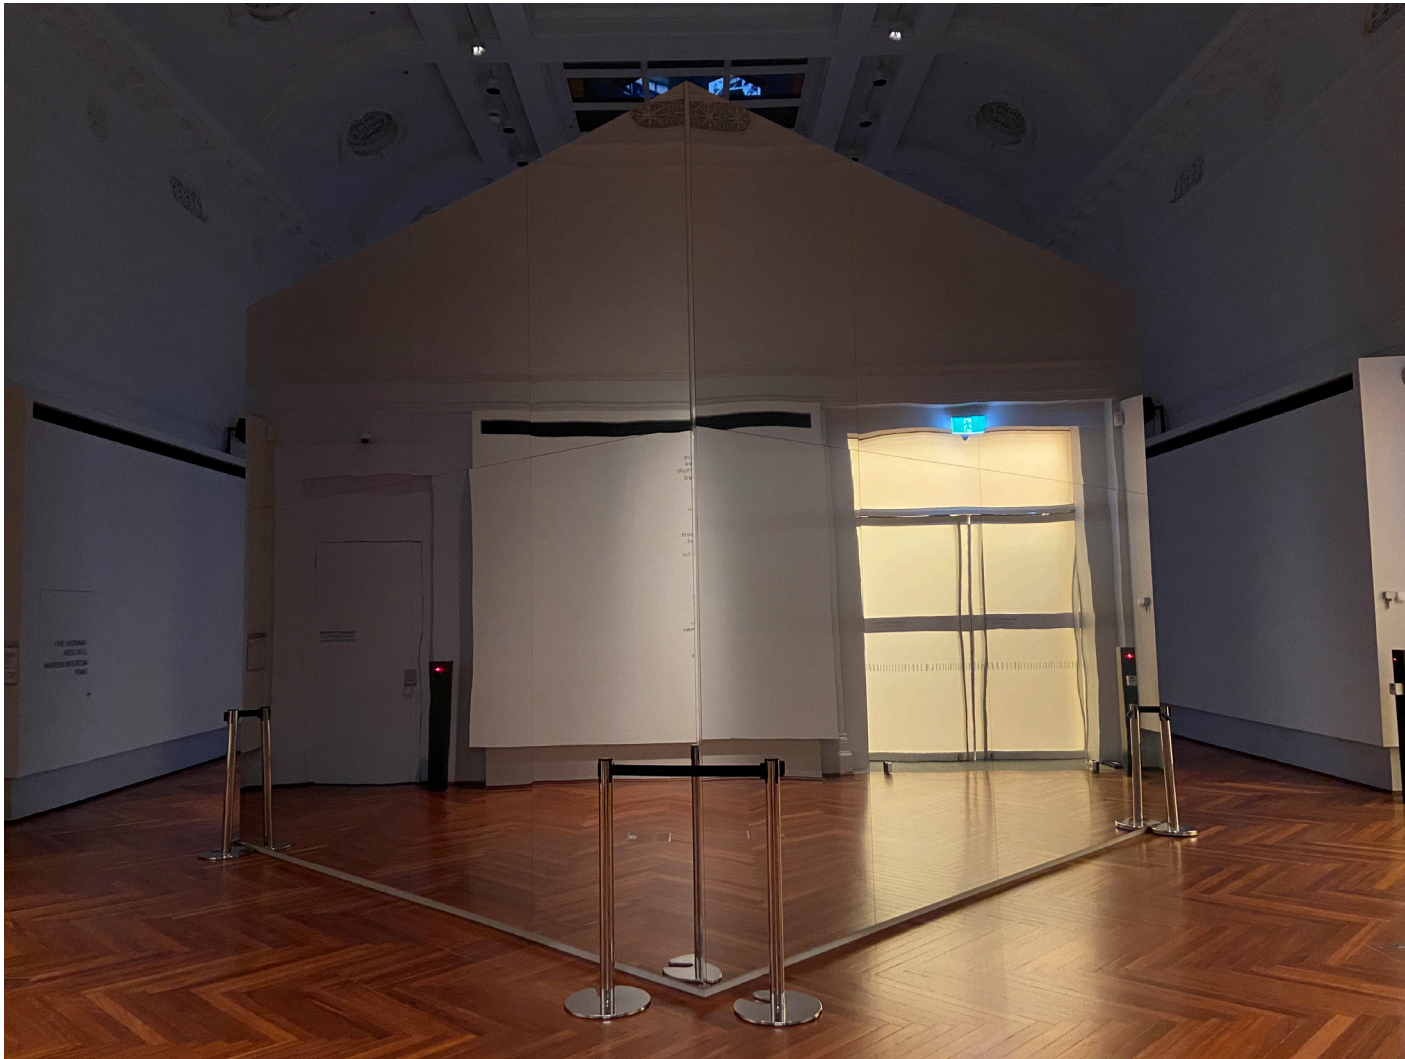

Today I'm going to a relaxed session at State Library Victoria. I'm visiting an exhibition called MIRROR: New views on photography.

I will enter the building from Entry 5 on La Trobe Street. This entrance is near the corner of Russell Street. This is a wheelchair accessible entrance.

Staff will be there wearing blue lanyards and a black uniform. I can ask them questions.

I will enter the building and walk down the hall. I will walk through the door on the right and see two tall mirrored walls.

In the central space, I can walk around or sit down on the carpet while I watch the the different responses on the projections.
The best place to watch is from the middle of the room.

Next to the entrances, I can pick up a free publication to take home.
It resembles a newspaper and has photos related to the exhibition.

Inside the cinema rooms, I can sit down and see the photographs from the State Library collection and how they are stored. The pictures in here will appear in random order.

There is a chill out room in the North Rotunda Portrait Gallery, with seats and bean bags. I can go there if I need a break.

I had fun visiting MIRROR: New views on photography at State Library Victoria!
