

I looked out the train window and something caught my eye.
You would not believe what I saw next!

The train came to a stop and the doors opened. I stepped onto the platform. A sign said, 'Welcome to I could tell this summer was going to be...

You should always have a ticket, but if you ever get stuck without one here's an excuse SO wild that it just might work...

The person shuffled onto the train and sat directly opposite me. They reached into an enormous bag and pulled out something wholly unexpected...

